Huebsch Services Obtains National Clean Green Certification

EAU CLAIRE, Wisconsin (August 7, 2013) - Huebsch Services, a family owned and operated business established in 1891, has been certified through the Textile Rental Services Association's (TRSA) Clean Green Program for its sustainability practices to protect the environment.

Huebsch Services has met TRSA's requirements for achieving efficiencies in water and energy conservation and adopting best management practices for reusing, reclaiming and recycling resources. Huebsch implements various sustainability practices including the reduction of water, electricity, oil, and gas consumption as well as reducing CO2 emissions.

Meeting TRSA's requirements corroborates Huebsch's claim that its products are valuable assets in reducing its customers' carbon footprint. Huebsch sought the certification to show the company's dedication to long-term environmental sustainability, and commitment to the continual improvement of its products and processes to better the environment.

"Huebsch is committed to environmental sustainability and very excited about this certification. We know that there is more that we can do and will strive to continually make improvements to our products and processes," says President and CEO Jim Vaudreuil.

Huebsch serves over 6,000 customers in the West Central Wisconsin and metropolitan area of Minneapolis and St. Paul, MN with offices in Eau Claire, WI and Egan, MN. The company specializes in sales and service of floor matting, work uniforms, and hygiene products. Huebsch is dedicated to enhancing the image of businesses throughout the area, keeping employees and facilities clean, safe and looking sharp.
